INTRODUCTION

The “Parking Plan” for Shepherdstown was established by Town Council in 2006 in response to the growing concern of many in the Central District of Town for whom Parking had become an increasing problem. The following regulations have been drafted by the Parking Committee at the request of the Town Council and the Mayor. They represent an attempt to provide clarity and direction for residents, business owners and employees, and visitors to the town. Shepherdstown is an historic village that was originally designed to accommodate horse and buggy traffic. It now accommodates a modern population of residents with their automobiles, a steady influx of visitors and tourists, and a growing university with inadequate parking on its east campus.

The Plan is designed to: first, accommodate the needs of those who live within the designated Town areas, particularly those with no off street parking. Second, allow business and non-profit organizations to successfully transact business. Finally, help town residents, businesses and non-profit organizations by providing town visitors with parking options.

An area bounded by High Street on the north, Washington Street on the south, Duke Street to the west, and Ray Street to the east.

Some streets are designated “Residential Parking Only” as are some portions of some blocks. From the outset it was understood that the Parking Plan would not solve all parking issues, nor would this plan please everyone, therefore cooperation amongst all concerned is needed to make the plan succeed. Moreover, it may not always be possible for each person to park directly in front their home, but there should be parking close to each residence and it is recommended that those who have off-street parking use it instead of competing with their neighbors for less than adequate on-street parking.

No matter how good a parking plan is, its success will depend solely on the consideration and respect one neighbor accords another, e.g., from time to time parking is designated for Special Occasions – funerals, weddings, parades, etc. The Shepherdstown Police Department is always willing to work with residents and organizations regarding the need for parking for special occasions. If such a need arises, residents or the heads of organizations are asked to contact the Police Department during regular office hours to discuss the need.

The regulations contained in this “manual” are designed by the Parking Committee and Town Council to answer as many questions as possible, and to make all of the regulations regarding the parking plan clear. Please ask a member of the committee or the Police Department if you need clarification.

The Committee is always open to suggestions from members of the Corporation.
